

R.A.G. Sheet

Volume 3, Issue 1 Revelwood Artisans Guild

July 1999

JUNK-A-THON

JULY 24, 8 AM - 3 PM

Yes, we have a date. Now we need help. Please come early to assist in setting up (7AM). Any extra tables, sawhorses and boards, or other display surfaces would be appreciated. Help will also be needed to keep track of sales throughout the day and cleaning up in the afternoon.

The location remains 236 Jarvis Road, Erial, NJ, the home of Jen & Tom Stevens. This is a main thoroughfare, so sales should be good. For directions give them a call at 856-227-5115.

As a suggestion, to save time and confusion on sale day, it is helpful to price items at home when you pack up. Mark each item with your initials and the price. Un-marked items will be considered donations to the R.A.G. Fund.

Remember, this is a fund raiser for the Guild, therefore, a donation of a portion of your proceeds would appropriate.

ART SHOW REVIEW

As anticipated, people began to trickle in around 2:00 pm. Jen Stevens prepared hot sausage for anyone with an appetite. By 4:00 pm, there was a healthy crowd milling about. However, as a few calls had been received and late entries were expected, it was 5:00 pm before everyone had to vacate the barn and judging could begin.

There were so many wonderful entries, it was a difficult task and to the angst of those outside, amidst intermittent showers, the process took slightly more than an hour. Thank you to all for your cooperation. Next year we hope to have a system in place that will eliminate having to clear the barn.

Once the doors were reopened, the public swarmed in to refresh their drinks and check to see if their favorite 2-D and 3-D entries had ribbons marking them as winners.

Following a frantic scabble to set up the sound system, due to various technical difficulties, the performance portion of the evening was kicked off by none other than Andrew McRobb with two humorous songs of his own creation. He was followed by many quality performances all by old favorites and some new faces. After the competition, the entertainment continued on stage, then around the fire, well into the night.

This will be a hard one to top, but we will try.

ART SHOW AWARDS

Congratulations to our winners:

Best in Show: Velveeta - Tripod of Power

Best in Theme: Pete - The Beginning

Best New: Gaoth Agus Rithim

Most Improved: Anya

People's Choice

1st: Gaoth Agus Rithim

2nd: Anya - An Original Piece

3rd: Stone Soup & Friends

Boris the Lonely Pine Tree

3rd: The General & Duke Sir Edmund

Revelwood Trading Cards

2-Dimensional

1st: Velveeta - Tripod of Power

2nd: Duke Sir Edmund - Unfinished Draco

3rd: Fiona - Mushroom Spirit

3-Dimensional

1st: Anezka - Past Perfect Dead

2nd: Pete - The Beginning

2nd: Duke Sir Edmund - Child's Armor

3rd: Bill Klein - Celtic Chair

Performance:

1st: Brother Rodney - Rodney's Tunes

2nd: Gaoth Agus Rithim

3rd: Anya - An Original Piece

Kidz Guild Results:

2-3 yrs 1st: Keira - Mo-Mo

4-7 yrs. 1st: Joe Brandenburg

Book of Monsters

2nd: Katlyn Barr - Tooth Fairy

8-11 yrs 1st: Brittany Barr - Tooth Fairy

2nd: TJ Stevens - Owl

12-17 yrs 1st: Sara Arienta - Thing

2nd: Desiree Stevens - Mummy

Thank you to every one for their entries and interest.

We are know excepting suggestions for next year's theme or ideas you would like to see come to life.

ELECTION RESULTS

Q and the IB tallied the votes and announced your New Guild:

Tarani - Karen Malone

Swiss Army Chic - Silva Blassmann

Jen Stevens -

and Fiona - Leslie Arienta is our alternate.

As an oversight, Fiona's name was omitted from the original list of nominees, Our apologies for the mistake.

WHO TO CALL

If you would like to contact a R.A.G. Mistress here are our numbers:

Tarani	609-268-9768
Silva	856-914-0298
Jen	856-227-5115

We would like to hear your suggestions. Let us know if you have information you would like to have published in future editions. We are always looking for something for the rag column and address changes or additions. Also Lost & Found information would fall under our dominion.

The next publication of the RAG Sheet will probably be late September.

PENNSIC WAR

is coming up soon. Hope everyone is tuning up their instruments, sharpening their whet and padding their swords. Remember to be well prepared. Waterproof your tent, check for leaks in the air mattress and cooler, make sure your chairs haven't dry rotted, and the batteries in your light are still good. It promises to be a fun time.

We hope to see many of you there.

CONGRATULATIONS

to Magically Inspired

They have opened their own store, located at:
559 S. White Horse Pike, Elm, NJ

Stop in and say Hi. While your there, check out their inventory. You might find that perfect gift for the hard to shop for friend in your life or a little something for yourself.

Sterling Silver Jewelry & Wands
Perfumes & Essential Oils
Incense of various natures
Tension Tamers
Prayer Candles
Dram Pillows
Bath Salts
Crystals
Pewter
& more

Directions: Rt. 30 toward Hammonton, NJ.
Located 4 miles north of Hammonton, next to the Elm Fire Station.

RU II REVIEW

The 2nd Annual Revelwood University took place on May 1.

We are proud to say things went smoother than last year and are sure RU III will be better yet. While we still had difficulty keeping to our schedule (typical Revelwood fashion) classes flowed throughout the day.

We started off with rhythm, learning the basic strokes for the Bodhran from the General. Imagination took over, as Meer helped us to develop new characters. Q kept everyone fascinated as he gave us a glimpse at his thought processes through the use of high language. Flowing throughout the day, as an added extra for those present, was the Vicar's lesson in brewing. Vicar was kind enough to demonstrate his technique for creating the "dark and lovely" brew. The outcome of which you may have been fortunate enough to sample at the Art show. Thank you to everyone who turned out and our appologies to Goody and Tarani for not getting to their classes. Perhaps we can prevail on them to sign on again next year? No clue what this is all about? Well, maybe next year you'll come out and see for yourself.

It's never to early to suggest a class or sign up to teach for the next RU. They need not be SCA oriented. One of the ideas we are considering is self-defense. Perhaps someone could teach their art form (painting, music, fighting)? The earlier we have a class list, the more interest we can drum up.

LIGHT FOR THE P-N-P

Don't forget to save your scrap wax, drippings, and candle stubs. We are collecting it to form candles to illuminate the Pipe and Pint. As this should be a very memorable event, with the crowing of the new tripod, we all want to have a good view of the events taking place. Contact Goody or a Guild mistress for drop off.

REVELWOOD GOES HOLLYWOOD

(well, actually, Atlantic City)

Tarani has been speaking with an agency that books gigs in AC. If anyone is interested, she is putting together a Revelwood promo pack including performers (music, dance, etc.), character actors (sound familiar? you?), fencers, archers, armored fighting. If you want to be included in this new venture, send a photo (in costume/garb or with weapons), and a short bio.

GREEN PAGES VOLUME III

It has been discussed that a new edition needs to be printed (due to area code changes, additions and moves.)

If this is to happen, each copy will cost $2.00 to cover printing expenses. ETA : Y2K